

ESTABLISHED 1861.

MR. CARRIGAN AND LABOR ARE STANDING TOGETHER

Nominee for Congress Meets Representatives of the Trades Council.

ANSWERS QUESTIONS

Promptly and Frankly in the Affirmative and in a Friendly Manner.

Charles E. Carrigan, Republican nominee for Congress in the First West Virginia district, gave formal assurances in writing to the organized laboring men of this city Friday afternoon of his intention to vote for legislation in their favor when he sits in the national House of Representatives. L. C. Orle, Republican nominee for House of Delegates, also formally agreed to vote and work for state legislation of the same nature.

Both nominees by invitation met a committee of the Central Trades Council in its hall in the Williams building on Third street. The committee as appointed consisted of J. A. Scharf, president of the central body; Mr. Clegg, of the painters and decorators' union; Thomas McGowan, of the journeymen barbers' union and W. A. Talkington, secretary of the Central Trades Council. A majority of the committee was present at the conference with the two nominees.

A list of questions, propounded by the Trades Council, was handed to Mr. Carrigan and it was signed by him as follows:

"Will you urge and vote for an amendment to the federal anti-trust act exempting the organization of labor, agriculture and horticulture and other associations of citizens not for profit or without capital stock from the provisions of that act?"

Answer, yes.

"Will you urge and vote for a federal bill to regulate the 'issuance of restraining orders, defining and limiting the meaning of conspiracy and granting relief to labor from the injunction abuse, the essential principles of which are involved in the Wilson bill H. R. 25, 188?"

Answer, yes. I have not seen the Wilson bill but suppose it has been approved by labor organizations.

"Will you urge and vote for the extension of the eight hour labor law so it shall apply to all contracts and sub-contracts on work for the federal government?"

Answer, yes.

"Will you urge and vote for a convict labor bill securing to each state the right to regulate, limit or prohibit the sale of the products of convict labor from other states?"

Answer, yes.

Mr. Carrigan added the following to his answers:

"The Republican party has always been the friend of the laboring man. Not only has that party promised to legislate for his interests, but it has followed up its promises by performance. It is today and will continue to be the best friend of labor and all its interests."

Mr. Carrigan as a member of the State Senate advanced the cause of labor and showed unlimited friendship toward it. His course there met with the approval of organized labor as shown by the following letter, although at the time he did not know that the labor organization herein referred to, namely, the Ohio Valley Trades and Labor Assembly, was interested in the subject of compulsory education:

Wheeling, W. Va., Feb. 8, 1903.

Senator G. E. Carrigan.

Dear Sir:—The following resolutions were adopted and the secretary instructed to forward a copy of same to you:

Resolved, We, the delegates to the Ohio Valley Trades and Labor Assembly, representing over 9,000 members of organized labor of the Ohio valley assembled, this 8th day of February, 1903, hereby tender our heartfelt thanks for the active and untiring efforts you have lent in furthering the interests of that important bill which is of vital importance to all citizens who believe in advancing education and good citizenship, namely, the compulsory school bill.

FRANK A. WOOLSEY, Secy.
O. V. T. and L. A.

Another list of questions was handed to Mr. Orle and he signed them all in the affirmative.

TEACH CHILDREN TO LOVE THE FLAG

Urges the State Regent in Her Report to Conference.

Following is the report of the state regent, Mrs. R. N. Edmondson, of Morgantown, which was read to the Daughters of the American Revolution of West Virginia at the Friday morning business session of the annual state convention at the Waldo hotel:

Daughters of the American Revolution of America:

It is a great pleasure to meet you all once again and those whom we have not had the pleasure of meeting before, we are very glad to know you.

Since our last meeting in Mannington the greatest work accomplished is the furnishing of West Virginia room of Memorial Centennial Hall. I will let Mrs. Furbee tell you about it later, as she was chairman of the purchasing committee. Mrs. Howard L. Hodgkins, secretary of the national committee, wrote me that the furniture is very handsome and was much admired during the congress.

Once again I appeal to you to support our American Monthly. It brings to us an amount of condensed and varied information which would serve as a tremendous stimulus to interest and exertion. It is more generally circulated and more generally read. Intelligent knowledge must precede intelligent work in these wide fields. Our magazine should be in the hands of every Daughter of the American Revolution and if this were the case it would be more self-supporting.

Much to my sorrow, I have not been able to persuade a chapter to take up one of the most important branches of our National D. A. R. work. I refer to the children of the Republic. Do not confuse this society with the children of the American Revolution. The children of the Republic is for the benefit of boys and girls who have not revolution.

STATE ENGINEER IS MUCH PLEASED

With Plans and Progress of the Work on the West
Mifflord Road.

E. D. Baker, state road engineer, was recently in the city conferring with C. C. Fittro, county surveyor, concerning the work on the West Mifflord road. Mr. Baker was shown the plans for the macadam work and expressed himself as being well pleased with the progress being made.

The plans will be sent into the state department in a few days, just as soon as can be made, and Mr. Baker stated as copies of the maps and surveys that when this was done the state would be ready with its share of the cost.

The paving has been completed as far as Irwin Stealey's, and this part of the work, extending from the fair ground bridge, has all been paid for by private subscription. The work of paving from the point to which it has been completed on to the Goff farm will be finished as soon as possible. The cost of this section is to be divided among the state, county and district.

Mr. Baker stated that Harrison county was among the leading counties of the state in making improvements under the new road law. He also said that engineers all over the state were exercising strict economy in purchasing road supplies, and expending the funds where they would do the most good.

From here Mr. Baker went to Lost Creek, and is now at Sutton, where he is looking after road matters.

Mr. Fittro went to Oral Friday morning, to look after the new reinforced concrete bridge, which is being completed there. The Luten Bridge company, which has the contract for this bridge, is also completing another of the same character on Indian run. The concrete work has been finished and only the filling in for the approaches remain to be done. Active work is to be begun on the new bridge over Elk creek Monday.

REPUBLICAN RALLY AT SALEM IS LARGE

FACTS AND STATISTICS
PROPERLY PRESENTED.

HON. STUART F. REED GIVES THEM IN INTELLIGENT FORM.

Proves By Actual Figures Where the Republican Party is Economizing.

(Charles Brooke Smith.)
Charleston, W. Va.—(Special).—One of the most effective stump speakers in the State is Hon. Stuart F. Reed, who is Secretary of State. Mr. Reed is not only an eloquent and convincing debater, but he possesses the talent and facility of presenting facts and statistics in an attractive and readable way. Official figures are not very alluring tabulated, it must be admitted, but Mr. Reed has the ability to put them into short, uniquely stated sentences, which are interesting and at once unconsciously take lodgment in the brain cells.

This campaign Mr. Reed is doing mighty effective work for the Republican party on the stump. He is making a superb defense of Governor Glasscock's splendid administration, of which he is an important part.

The following extracts from the speech he is delivering covers briefly, accurately and picturesquely all important issues in the present campaign, and makes one of the strongest pocket-edition campaign documents that the Republican party has issued to West Virginians this year.

HON. STUART F. REED.

"Every prediction made by the Democrats concerning West Virginia's new tax laws has been nullified by experience and shattered by facts. They said these laws would increase the taxes of the plain people; the facts are, nine taxpayers out of every ten have had their taxes reduced. They said it was a scheme backed by the corporations, but the people knew that these laws have been resisted by the corporations in every possible way since their enactment. They loudly proclaimed that the change in the methods of taxing the banks of the State would drive deposits from our own banks into those of adjoining States. Instead of this result, the deposits in our State and National banks have increased over thirty millions of dollars since the new tax laws were passed. This increase is practically double the entire deposits of the banks of the State after twenty-six years of Democratic supremacy."

"They said these laws would frighten investors away from West Virginia and retard development. The facts are that in the twelve months following the passage of the new tax laws 482 new industries were established in the State, having an aggregate capital of $23,000,000, and giving employment to 10,000 people. Big Mass Meeting is Addressed by Mr. Carrigan, the Nominee.

The great mass meeting last night at Salem put a crimp into the Democrats to use a street term. The fine turnout convinced the Democrats peanut politicians that all was not well with the Democratic party in Tennessee district. When the Democratic "favorite" son spoke there several nights ago, a great shout went up from the Democratic machine camp that he was the man, but last night's meeting of Republicans has dampened the Democratic gang's ardor and that its members should be looking a little blue today is not at all strange.

The opera house was packed and standing room was at a premium at the Carrigan meeting there last night and the intense interest and enthusiastic demonstrations engaged in emphatically the fact that Tennessee disaffection intends to roll up a great Republican majority this year.

Mr. Carrigan made a strong argument in favor of Republican policies and handled the Democratic theory of free trade without gloves. Those who had heard Mr. Carrigan previously in the campaign pronounce his Salem speech the best and most convincing he has made in Harrison county and he was accorded frequent and enthusiastic applause.

Attorney John C. Southern, of this city, discussed county and other issues in a very neat speech. The meeting lasted two hours.

Wesley L. Steele, committeeman, called the big assemblage to order and named Charles A. Schutte as chairman of the meeting. The latter very cleverly introduced the speakers. The Salem band furnished music.

BLACK BASS SENT HERE FOR THE ELK

Dr. Harvey V. Varner for the Government to Place
Them in Stream.

Upwards of 250,000 black bass are soon to be placed in Elk creek above Quiet Dell by county health officials, in an effort to rid the creek of its impurities. The fish are sent here from the Sulphur Springs hatchery in Virginia. For the benefit of fish sportsmen it may be stated that the fish need not be regarded as prospective game for a few years to come, as the largest is scarcely over an inch in length. Three ten gallon cans are required for transporting the fish to their new quarters. The fish are expected to arrive on the midnight train tonight.

Points regarding the early education of children with regard to proper sanitation were brought out, and the matter of a state sanitarium was also discussed. State legislation was also discussed.

Next Thursday night the meeting of the Harrison County Medical Society will be held.

The following physicians were present at the meeting last night: Dr. John Folk and Dr. W. M. Davis, of Bridgeport; Drs. E. F. Shuttlesworth, T. M. Hood, C. W. Halterman, H. E. Sloan, and C. N. Slater, of this city.

of the Society.

RE-ELECTION FAVORED

By Daughters of Revolution
in Reference to the Na-

Mrs. R. N. Edmondson, of Morgantown, state regent of the West Virginia Daughters of the American Revolution, was unanimously endorsed as the state chapter's candidate for one of the twenty vice-presidents general of the national organization, Friday at the annual convention of the state chapter, which is in progress at the Waldo hotel. West Virginia has not had a vice-president general in years and a strong effort will be made to elect Mrs. Edmondson at the annual meeting of the Continental Congress of the Daughters next April in Washington, D. C.

To Support Mrs. Scott.
Mrs. Matthew T. Scott, president general of the national organization, will be supported for re-election by the state chapter as the result of a resolution passed at the business session Friday morning. The resolution did not receive a unanimous vote, however, and considerable discussion was engaged in as to the advisability of adopting it, but the admirers of Mrs. Scott won out and the resolution was passed.

The business of the state chapter was taken up at the Friday morning session. The Rev. James E. Bird, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church, made the invocation.
